Polin Museum | Warsaw - Poland | 15th March 2023

〈 ARGENTINA 〉 UNSURPASSED

“We are delighted to welcome you to the first ‘in person’ tasting of Argentine wines in Poland.

Wines of Argentina, ProMendoza, the Ministry of Economics and Energy in Mendoza and The Argentine Embassy in Poland welcome you all.

The title of this tasting is ‘Argentina Unsurpassed’, marking a point that tells the world that there has never been a better time to enjoy these wines from the world’s fifth largest wine producer. They have never been better.

Argentina has seen spectacular export growth around the world in the last 25 years, now established and maturing in some markets, but yet to gain a strong foothold in other, new markets. We have been watching our exports in Poland over the last few years, and are committed to helping the wine trade promote Argentina with dynamic, thrilling and diverse wines that continue to garner favour from critics and consumers alike.

Whilst Malbec continues to dominate as Argentina’s calling card, this tasting will show that there is so much more to offer, as well as providing a template to taste the extraordinary diversity and regionality that winemakers are so keen to show, with less intervention and a real focus on sustainability.

Argentina now has its own I.G. system, mostly based around political boundaries, with some also based on soil and climate factors, with many wineries and winemakers now finding their own ‘plot and rule’ regions to champion.

We would like to thank Piotr Pietrzyk at Slowguide in organising this event, along with Florencia Rebudero at ProMendoza, Ambassador Ana Maria Ramirez and the team at the Argentine Embassy in Warsaw and Analía Lucero, Romina Belén Ruiz, Paula Valle and Phil Crozier at Wines of Argentina “

WINERY: A16

a16sa.com

A16 Winery was established as a winemaking project in 2007 by Gerardo Cartellone, who decided to start his own winery following the steps of his ancestors. It all began with his Sicilian great-grandfather, who made his own wines back then. Then followed his grandfather, who migrated to Argentina and built some of the great wineries in the province. Later, his father continued to work in the wine industry. Gerardo today keeps his heritage and the family's love for wine alive.

WINERY: Alpamanta Estate Wines

alpamanta.com

In 2005 three close friends, Andrej Razumovsky from Austria and his cousin André Hoffmann from Switzerland, joined with Jeremie Delecourt from France to establish a boutique winery in Mendoza Argentina. Andrej and Andre noble family Sayn Wittgenstain, who owned vineyards in Moldavia and Jeremie's family are producers of rosé wine in the Cotes de Provence region and own the vineyard Chateaux de la Crois Bontar. Due to a combination of this rich heritage as well as a passion for the world of wine, our project came to life.

In the local indigenous culture, Alpamanta means "Love for the Earth". Working and coexisting in harmony with nature and the environment has always been a key aspect of native culture. That is why loving the earth is our motto and it is our way of caring for the Terroir.

WINERY: Belasco de Baquedano

belascomalbec.com

The vineyards were planted in 1910 on soils of alluvial origin with a pebbly subsoil and sandy-silty-clay sediments. This, together with a high plantation density and the work of our technical team ensures very low yields and top-quality grapes, with all the properties and typical characteristics of the Malbec variety. Together with the work undertaken in restoring the vineyards, various tending practices are applied during the growth cycle to assure optimum quality berries.

CHAÑARMUYO

WINERY: Chañarmuyo

chanarmuyo.com

We arrived in 2001 at Chañarmuyo, an unexplored valley in the province of La Rioja. A place at 1,720 meters (5,500 feet), with ancient soils with silt and rocks, in a non-traditional area because it was considered too cold for wines. Today the wines are of great personality, but it has also become an integral project that involves a social objective since the town had less than 100 inhabitants at the beginning of our winery and today its population has increased fivefold thanks to the return of young people who have a future. The condor present in the logo, as the king of the Andes, greatly represents this wild, silent and magical landscape producing some of the best wines from Cuyo region.

ALTAR UCO

QUIET WINES

WINERY: Altar Uco

altaruco.com

Altar Uco is an eternal project, a constant search to achieve even more pure and delicate expressions of the terroir, which includes not only the place where the grapes are grown, but also man's interpretation of that place. Juan Pablo Michelini seeks to enhance the terroir of Upper Uco Valley (Mendoza) and makes it stand out through its personal mark. And let human emotions intervene in the place of origin of the grapes.

We produce not only Malbec, but also top whites and reds working with minimal intervention, very sensitive winemaking and ageing in concrete eggs (Edad Moderna), used oak barrels (Edad Media) and long storage in barrels and bottles (Edad Antigua).

The scores and recognitions of Wine Advocate (Robert Parker), Tim Atkin, James Suckling, Vinous and Jancis Robinson position us within the crème de la crème of Argentine wine.

BODEGA ARAUJO

UNIMOS HISTORIAS

WINERY: Bodega Araujo

bodegaaraujo.com.ar

The history of Casa Araujo Bodega begins around 2001 when the first estates were acquired in the Villa Atuel region in San Rafael, province of Mendoza, one of which had belonged to the Arizu family. At that time, the first vineyards began to be planted, and they are now used for the production of wines, as well as the recovery of old vines.

The production of our wines, Casa Araujo, began in 2010, after the renovation of one of the abandoned wineries of the estate. From the acquisition of the first estate until today, we have dedicated ourselves to implementing and recovering vineyards, and we have also branched out the activity by also producing plums, olive trees, asparagus and engaging in the livestock business.

WINERY: Bodega Lagarde

lagarde.com.ar

Bodega Lagarde was founded in 1897 in Luján de Cuyo, one of the first viticultural enterprises in Mendoza. In 1969 it was purchased by the Pescarmona family and during the 1980s and 1990s the focus turned to quality, establishing a well-defined style and using non-traditional grapes such as Viognier and Moscato Bianco, an audacious choice for Latin America.

Today, the winery is led by the sisters Sofía and Lucila Pescarmona, the third generation of the family. Under their direction, Lagarde creates exceptional terroir character wines that reflect a strong sustainable commitment to the land and its people.

WINERY: Bodega y Viñedos Carelli

bodegacarelli.com.ar

In 1943 Santos J. Carelli acquired the winery and introduced vines in their lands, prioritising quality vines for the production of its wines. The company is currently owned by Santos' son, Enrique J. Carelli, third generation of winemakers in Mendoza. Enrique continues to incorporate new technologies and keeps alive the entrepreneurial spirit of its founder. Based in the East of Mendoza, working in one of the many beautiful old wineries that are found in this traditional area, recently restored by the famous architectural firm Bórmida-Yanzón, their technology is bang up to date, with a capacity for 4.5 million litres. Carelli owns 140 planted hectares, distributed in 5 farms, located in the departments of Rivadavia, San Martín and Junín.

DESQUICIADO

WINERY: Desquiciado Wines

desquiciado.com

This project, based in the Uco Valley, Mendoza, is born from a great friendship between Gonzalo Tamagnini and Martin Sesto, who met 8 years ago working together for other projects. Both agreed on ideas, styles and tastes, so they decided to communicate and spread this passion they have for viticulture with their own wines. In this process they have found many challenges, awakening a permanent desire for improvements, innovation and experimentation with new techniques, to the point of becoming two "Desquiciados" ("Wine maniacs") by wine.

WINERY: Familia Millán

famiyamillan.com

Part of a larger family group, Familia Millan certainly don't lack any ambition. With wineries in Mendoza and San Juan to the north, they are relatively new to the wine industry, and are pouring resources into high quality viticulture wherever they farm. In Mendoza Los Toneles, a beautiful old winery near to the centre of Mendoza city, and Mosquito Huerta, with creativity and inspiration of the brand and its labels arise from their personal and family experiences. The names of the wines that make up the Mosquita Muerta family are: Malcriado, Mosquita Muerta, Sapo de Otro Pozo, Pispi, Perro Callejero and Cordero con Piel de Lobo, all inspired by phrases and popular sayings from Latin slang. Fuego Blanco is the most recent wine venture of the Millán Family, which began in 2012 with the acquisition of a farm in the highest and most exclusive area of Valle de Pedernal, province of San Juan.

This farm is located on the foothills of the Andes Mountains at an altitude ranging from 1,200 to 1,700 meters above sea level, with mild summers and very cool nights.

WINERY: Finca Feliz

fincafeliz.com.ar

Finca Feliz is a family-owned project brought to life by Carlos and Lis Clément. Emerging first as a place for father and daughter to spend time together and unleash their creativity, Finca Feliz continues to evolve, guided by the vision of two deeply invested generations.

Our journey is guided by the need to explore how distinctive wines can become if given the chance to march to the beat of their own drum. As such, we seek to craft wines of a mesmerising personality, year after year, away from the conventions imposed by an increasingly standardised market.

We belong to a new generation of winegrowers who dream of encouraging diversity at the heart of Argentine wine growing, which is why our wines are crafted with European and Argentine grapes alike. Our commitment is to achieve excellence both in the vineyard and at the winery, all the while focusing on sustainability of the land and our community.

WINERY: Inculto

vallisto.com

This project is about expressing the virtues of the unique terroirs in and around this beautiful, remote area of Argentina. It is also a rescue mission, giving voice to long-forgotten vineyards and lesser-known grape varieties, pulling together a youthful, dynamic approach to winemaking and the kind of natural resources that take millennia to form. I hope to create exciting, rare gems, which are often from very old vines. We are crafting modern, elegant wines that are light on extraction and big on flavour and complexity.

WINERY: Bodegas Salentein

bodegasalentein.com

Located in Mendoza's famed Uco Valley, Bodegas Salentein produces a remarkable collection of wines from vineyards planted in some of the highest elevations on the planet.

The Uco Valley's high elevations ranging from 1,100 to 1,700 meters above sea level and different stony alluvial soils create the perfect growing conditions for world-class wines. For twenty-five years, Salentein has led the way in the study and development of the Uco Valley's micro terroirs implementing sustainable practices that ensure continuity of quality winemaking.

Today, Salentein is the largest estate in the Uco Valley. The property comprises four 'fincas', Spanish for estates: El Oasis, La Pampa, San Pablo & El Tomillo, for a total area of more than 2.000 ha. The winery is run by a large team of expert winemakers, headed by the father of Argentinian Malbec, Jose Pepe Galante. Salentein is the first winery in Argentina to obtain the Carbon Trust Certification. Our wines are vegan certified and the whole production process is managed completely following the organic system and through sustainable methods.
